

CASE STUDY

Hilltop Companies helps build St. Elizabeth Healthcare cancer fighting power

New $140 million cancer center key to fighting disease

CHALLENGE: As part of their focus on leading the battle against cancer, St. Elizabeth Healthcare spent more than $140 million to build and equip a new cancer center on their Edgewood, Kentucky campus. The six-story tower is more than 250,000 square feet and includes a 638-car parking garage.

SOLUTION: Turner Construction, the general contractor, led the multi-year project. They contracted with Lithko who chose Hilltop Companies to provide the ready-mixed concrete for several reasons. "Hilltop can handle the size of this project. Their new Mineola plant is within 6 miles, which added the benefit of consistent delivery," stated David Opalka, Project Executive from Turner Construction.

APPROACH: Hilltop Companies provided nearly 8,000 cubic yards of ready-mixed concrete. This involved 8 mixes including macro fibers, a structural fiber that provides high, post-crack control and can eliminate the necessity for welded wire mesh and/or light rebar.

RESULTS: The center opened on schedule in October 2020. Hilltop crews battled winter elements during deliveries and pours to keep the project on track. "Hilltop is proud to be a part of this building project and in a small way help St. Elizabeth reach their goal of reducing area cancer rates and help lead Northern Kentucky to become one of the healthiest communities in America," stated Bud Ruffing, Senior Sales Representative of Hilltop Companies.
